Enrichment: Contemporary Singapore. Join a local expert to learn about modern-day Singapore's rich cultural heritage and economy.

Singapore Panoramic Tour. After the morning lecture, depart by coach to begin your panoramic exploration of Singapore in Merlion Park at Esplanade Bridge. Admire the stunning views of the city's skyline and Marina Bay, taking note of the iconic national landmark of the mythical Merlion, which possesses the body of a fish and the head of a lion. The Merlion's fish-like body symbolizes Singapore's origins as a fishing village. The statue's head represents the city's original name, Singapura ("lion city" in Sanskrit). According to legend, Sang Nila Utama—a Srivijayan prince of Palembang—landed on our shores amidst a tempest at sea. Near the mouth of the Singapore River, the prince spied a strange creature, which he identified as a lion, thus giving Singapura its name. This legend is embodied in the statue at Merlion Park. Spouting water from its mouth, the Merlion statue stands 28 feet high and weighs 154,324 pounds. Originally located at the mouth of the Singapore River, it was designed by Kwan Sai Kheong, built by local craftsman Lim Nang Seng and unveiled in 1972 by then-Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew. The Merlion statue faces east, which is believed to be a direction that brings prosperity.

Continue your panoramic tour through the Civic District, Singapore's historic and cultural precinct known for its rich heritage, iconic landmarks and government institutions. See the Padang, an open field in the heart of the area that has played a significant role in Singapore's history and has been the venue for various events and celebrations. Surrounding the Padang, see the City Hall, an elegant colonial-era building with a distinctive dome. It was completed in 1929 and served as the seat of the colonial government. Today, it houses the National Gallery Singapore, showcasing a vast collection of Southeast Asian art. Also, see the Old Supreme Court building, admiring its neoclassical architecture, and the Arts House, a colonial-era building that served as Singapore's first Parliament House. Today, it is a multidisciplinary arts venue that hosts performances, exhibitions and events. Pass by the Singapore Cricket Club (SCC), a prestigious, historic, members-only sports and social club. Established in 1852, the club has a long and distinguished history, making it one of the oldest cricket clubs outside the United Kingdom. The Civic District is a hub of historical and cultural significance and a vibrant area with museums, theaters and beautiful public spaces. (Mild)

Hokkien Temple. Next, visit one of Singapore's oldest and most important Hokkien temples, Thian Hock Keng Temple, located in the heart of Chinatown. Dedicated to Mazu, the goddess of the sea and protector of sailors, the temple was built between 1839 and 1842 by early Chinese immigrants who came to Singapore to seek a better life. It was constructed using traditional Chinese methods and served as a place of worship for the Hokkien community. A prime example of southern Chinese temple architecture, it features intricate carvings, colorful tiles, detailed sculptures and imposing columns. The roof is adorned with mythical creatures and scenes from Chinese folklore, and the interior is decorated with delicate porcelain figurines. The temple's vibrant colors and artistic elements make it a visually striking place. Often called the "Temple of Heavenly Bliss," Thian Hock Keng Temple is not only a religious site. It continues to be an active place of worship—but also a symbol of the rich cultural heritage of Singapore's Chinese community. (Moderate)

Savor Singapore's popular cuisine during lunch together.

Multicultural Singapore. After lunch, explore Singapore's diverse cultures and rich, eclectic history. Begin with a visit to Kampong Glam, the Muslim quarter and Malay enclave that originated as a fishing village at the mouth of the Rochor River. Admire the quiet majesty of the golden-domed Sultan Mosque here. Continue to Chinatown, where the streets are lined with traditional shophouses that have been lovingly restored into restaurants, teahouses and shops selling Asian arts, crafts, souvenirs and Chinese medicinal herbs. In Little India, embrace the tantalizing aroma of spices and meander through the exotic flower and spice markets. (Mild)

Return to the hotel late this afternoon to relax and enjoy dinner at your leisure.

Peranakan Heritage. The region's Peranakan community, which arrived in Peninsular Malaysia and Singapore as early as the 15th century, represents a rich fusion of Chinese, Malay and European influences. Today, you'll encounter Singapore's rich, multicultural heritage as you visit a Peranakan enclave in the Katong area. Here, shophouses showcase a unique architectural style, featuring colorful facades, intricate tiles and ornate carvings that reflect their heritage's wealth and cultural identity. Visit a family business noted for its Peranakan cuisine and learn about the history and preparation of the traditional kueh chang, pineapple tart. The small, bite-size tart is filled or topped with pineapple jam. Considered a "festive cookie," these tarts are especially popular during Hari Raya, Chinese New Year and Deepavali celebrations in Singapore and Malaysia. They are also sold year-round by commercial bakeries and souvenir stores. After a tasting, enjoy a brief presentation on the history of the Kim Choo Kueh Chang shop and the heritage and significance of Kueh Chang in Peranakan culture. (Mild)

Gardens by the Bay . Early this evening, depart for your excursion to this national showplace of horticulture and garden artistry that is awe-inspiring to behold! On your self-guided evening, which includes tickets to two attractions within Gardens by the Bay, you are free to explore independently.

The nature park spans 250 acres and consists of three waterfront gardens – Bay South Garden, Bay East Garden and Bay Central Garden – so you'll want to plan a bit before you go so that you know which two attractions you most want to visit. Cloud Forest, the Supertree Observatory, Flower Dome and OCBC Skyway are all popular highlights. In Cloud Forest, marvel at the world's tallest indoor waterfall and lush mountain adorned with plants from around the world and explore its whimsical aerial walkways. Supertree Grove contains 12 of the Garden's legendary 164-foot-tall Supertrees. These "trees" are vertical gardens comprising nearly 163,000 plants that harvest solar energy. You can also walk along the 420-foot-long ODBC Skyway and visit the Supertree Observatory, housed in the tallest Supertree.

Venture to its indoor viewing deck or outdoor rooftop deck for spectacular 360-degree panoramic views of the surrounding gardens and Marina Bay. In Bay South, you can see popular exhibits such as “Tulipmania” and “Orchid Extravaganza” – with unusual plants from habitats ranging from the Mediterranean to South Africa to arid desserts – in the enormous glass greenhouse that is the Flower Dome.

When you are ready for a break, choose your own spot for dinner. Gardens by the Bay offers an impressive range of dining experiences, from casual eateries to themed restaurants and rooftop bars. Later, you won't want to miss the Garden Rhapsody light and musical show when the Supertrees come alive! (Moderate)

Enrichment: History & Culture of Thailand. Learn about this nation's fascinating history and culture during a discussion with a local expert.

Bangkok Highlights: Grand Palace and Emerald Buddha Temple. From the pier at your hotel, board a private boat for a cruise along the Chao Phraya River and Thonburi canals. En route to Bangkok Klong, make a photo stop at the Temple of Dawn. During your cruise, take in the colorful river life, which starkly contrasts the frenzied activity of the modern metropolis of Bangkok. Enjoy viewing the riverbanks full of stilted wooden homes, colonial buildings and a vibrant local market. Bangkok merchants still use the canals to travel and transport their merchandise throughout the city.

Conclude your cruise at the Tha Chang pier and continue your exploration of Bangkok as you walk past family homes, temples and a local market en route to visit the Grand Palace and the Emerald Buddha Temple. Dating from the 15th century, this beautifully decorated wat (temple) is one of Thailand's most important Buddhist temples. Next, experience local transportation during a tuk-tuk ride to Wat Po to see the reclining Buddha. (Moderate)

Lunch at the Blue Elephant, Bangkok. You'll feel like you are walking back in time as you enter the famed Blue Elephant, Bangkok. The building in which the restaurant is housed was built in 1903 along the historic Sathorn Road. Originally the site of the Bombay Department Store, it was restored in 2002 and became the prestigious Blue Elephant Cooking School and Restaurant. Step inside the colonial-style restaurant and behold Thai-inspired décor that evokes luxury and cultural richness. (Mild) Available at an additional cost.

Dinner is at your leisure if you have not chosen the elective activity above.

Day 11 | Ayutthaya

The Peninsula Bangkok

B | L

Bang Pa In Summer Palace & Ayutthaya. Depart Bangkok this morning for the Bang Pa In district. Visit the stunning European-inspired Bang Pa In Summer Palace complex, dating to the Ayutthaya Kingdom. Its modern incarnation is associated with the reign of King Rama IV (King Mongkut) in the 19th century. The king initiated the palace's restoration and expansion, showcasing diverse architectural styles and reflecting the influences of Thai, Chinese, and European design. The buildings include traditional Thai pavilions, Chinese-style halls, and a Thai Buddhist temple that resembles a Gothic church. On the palace grounds, beautiful gardens and lawns with ornamental plants, flowers, and water features contribute to the overall aesthetic appeal of the palace complex. Tour the palace and stroll the grounds before continuing to the historic UNESCO World Heritage site of Ayutthaya. The city served as the second capital of the Siamese Kingdom, now Thailand, for more than four centuries. It was founded in 1350 by King U Thong, also known as King Ramathibodi I, and became the capital of the Ayutthaya Kingdom, succeeding Sukhothai, Thailand, capital from 1350-1767. Burmese forces laid siege to Ayutthaya in 1766 and ultimately sacked the city a year later. It is in ruins today, but it once was a flourishing city. It hosted visitors and delegations from around the world. The magnificent ruins make it easy to imagine how glorious this island city once was. The royal family lived in three palaces here, and residents worshipped at some 400 temples. As you stroll the grounds, you may see massive brick ruins, lion guardian statues, seated Buddha figures and many other amazing artifacts. (Moderate)

Built by King Suryavarman II as a Hindu temple dedicated to the god Vishnu, the temple eventually became filled with Buddhist elements as the new religion spread through the empire. The main temple, with its central tower rising to a height of 213 feet, was designed to represent Mount Meru, the home of the gods in Hindu mythology. Built in the late 12th century, Angkor Thom was the last capital of the Khmer Empire, which ended in the mid-15th century. The Bayon is the imposing temple in the center of the city. Its 54 towers feature carvings of more than 200 smiling faces. Admire the bas-reliefs of epic battles. Then, explore the haunting temples of Ta Prohm, where the roots of massive kapok trees have overtaken the buildings. Built by the same king who directed the construction of Angkor Thom, this Buddhist monastery was once a powerful religious center serving 80,000 people. After centuries of human neglect, the jungle has claimed the temples, courtyards and paths. Continue to Thommanon, also situated within Angkor Thom. This small but well-preserved temple reflects the Angkor period's classical Khmer art and architecture. Built during the reign of King Suryavarman II in the early 12th century, around the same time as Angkor Wat, Thommanon was dedicated to the Hindu god Shiva. The temple features exquisite Apsara carvings and bas-reliefs that depict scenes from Hindu mythology, including stories from the Ramayana and the Mahabharata. Thommanon is known for its symmetrical layout and design, compact size, and elegance of architecture. Its well-proportioned structures include a central sanctuary surrounded by a gallery that resembles the shape of a cross. (Active)
